

EMPLOYEE PROTECTION PLAN

This product is for Standard Bank Business Banking clients within the Small Enterprise segment.

It provides the Business Banking – Small Enterprise customer with a product to cover their employees (full-time permanent employees, or on full-time contract of at least 12 months) for death and permanent disability, and covers the employee and their immediate family for funeral cover.

(Employee's immediate family: spouse and maximum five children under the age of 25 years).

Benefits provided to the Employer:

-  The cover allows the employer the means to assist their employees at a time of financial need.
-  Free the business of potential unforeseen financial obligations associated with funding employees at a time of need.
-  Provide a simple, low cost, reduced administration solution for the employer to provide a formalised group policy for their staff (employees).
-  Offered and forms part of the employee benefits programme.

FAQ

Frequently Asked Questions

What happens when I leave my current employer and still want to continue with the cover

The group policy is for employees and is available to employers. If you leave your current employer and would like to continue with the full benefits group policy you have two options: The options are;

1. Your new employer will need to take the group policy for his employees and if this takes place within two months of your leaving the previous employer, there will be no waiting period applied.
2. You can take out the Funeral Plan for yourself

Am I able to change my spouse or beneficiary details in future?

Yes, you can change your spouse or beneficiary details should you choose to. Please note that only one spouse is allowed per main insured. A new 6 months waiting period will apply for the new added spouse. The beneficiary can also be changed at a later stage should the need arise.

To whom are the benefits paid?

- The benefit for disability is paid to the policyholder
- The benefit for death and funeral is paid to the nominated beneficiary
- The beneficiary must be a natural person from ages 18 years

What happens if I relocate and move to another country, does the policy still cover?

If you relocate due to work and If you are still a South African resident and employed by the same employer then you can keep it. If you relocate and take up citizenship of another country – and are no longer employed by the same South African employer, it is not possible to continue with the policy because the policy covers people permanently residing within the borders of South Africa.

What other benefits do I get from this policy as an employee?

In addition to the cash benefits you also receive assistance with body repatriation, lifestyle advice on matters such as obesity, diabetes, immunisation and epilepsy. You also get help with trauma counselling for traumatic incidents.

How many children are covered under this policy?

Maximum of five children are covered under the Funeral benefit.

Can my employer upgrade our policies to higher benefit in the future?

Yes, your employer can upgrade the group policy and plan originally selected with a new higher benefits plan or even downgrade to a lower plan. Please note that the entire group policy has to be upgraded or downgraded. If the migration is to higher benefits, there will be additional waiting period to the difference in benefits from old to new. If the migration is to lower, there will be no additional waiting period.

How will my family know how to claim in the event of my death?

Your family can approach the nearest Standard Bank branch with your ID, call our Call Centre for assistance on 0860 123 999 or approach your Employer.
